Book Report

By Judy Bane

"Force of Nature" by Jane Harper

What it's about: Whistleblower Alice Russell disappears while on a corporate retreat with four other women in the Australian Bush. Federal agents Aaron Falk and Carmen Cooper, who were working with her on a money laundering case, uncover plenty of possible suspects, including a serial killer's son.

Series alert: This follow-up to the author's acclaimed debut, The Dry (Reese Witherspoon bought the movie rights), provides another suspenseful, vividly drawn tale but can be read as a standalone.

The first book of this series, "The Dry", was so good and I was happy to read the second title "Force of Nature" and find that it was just as well written. Set in Australia, events and characters are vividly drawn. I highly recommend these two titles to anyone who enjoys a good story well told.

Community Council Corner

Council Report for July 12, 2018

Our Ice Cream truck will be at the "Show in the Shade" in The Dalles on August 11th., and at the Drag Races in Dallesport on August 12th. This is a fund-raising activity to benefit local causes. On July 12, we approved a $150.00 donation to Teens Against Drug and Alcohol Abuse (TADAA) to help with expenses to attend a skill-building seminar held in Florida.

A reminder was given of Lyle School Board Meetings, held on the 4th Tuesday of each month from 6-7:30 PM, in the school library.

In preparation for the legalization of Additional Dwelling Units, the Dallesport Water District has implemented a resolution. ADUs will require a separate hook-up fee, a separate meter, and a separate service charge and billing for each unit. There will be no piggy-backing on the account of the original dwelling unit. KPUD is considering a similar policy for sewer service. This is in hopes of limiting the population and building density, so as to be able to provide consistent supply throughout the service area.

In Public Comment, it was brought up that certain properties are holding piles of junk cars, assorted trash, unsightly and unhealthy heaps of rubbish. If these conditions are negatively affecting your neighborhood, please file a complaint with the County Code Compliance Office. The more pressure, the sooner we might get some relief.

Due to health reasons, Pj Sisseck has submitted her resignation from the Community Council, effective immediately. Caleb Hotchkiss has been appointed to fill the position. He will run for election to the Council in November.

The next Community Council meeting is scheduled for August 9th., 7 PM at the Community Center. The discussion will center on Coal Train Safety.

KCEMS Levy Increase

The KCEMS 1 Board of Directors after much discussion, deliberation and review formally adopted a resolution at the June meeting to place a levy increase on the November ballot. This will increase our current levy from $0.30 per thousand of property evaluation to $0.50 for a period of six (6) years. For the owner of a $200,000 home this will amount to $100.00 per year or $0.27 cents per day to have 24/7 paramedic level ambulance service.

Lonnie David Roth passed away at his home in Hood River, Ore., on July 3, 2018, at the age of 73. Lonnie "Lonzo" was born in Sterling, Colo., to Ovadell and Lester Roth on March 1, 1945. Their family moved to Lyle, later that same year. He attended schools in the Lyle School District from kindergarten through his senior year, graduating from Lyle High School in 1963. Lonnie joined the U.S. Navy in 1965 and then proudly served with the U.S. Marines as an F.M.F. Navy Corpsman in the Vietnam War from 1966 to 1969. ## Triage Vol II, Issue VII

We want to share this recognition with you.

At the May meeting the Klickitat County EMS Council honored Betty Fink of Klickitat for her many years of service. Betty was one of the early pioneers of Emergency Medical Services in the county, serving the residents of the Klickitat community and helping to develop the EMS system in Klickitat County for over 40 years, beginning in the mid 1970's. "Much of the county EMS system in place today can be attributed to the work done by Betty and the other early EMT's" said David Nice, Council Chair.

It's always good to reflect on where we came from and what it has taken us to get here. It is individuals like Betty who saw a future and worked their entire lives to see it come to fruition. We at KCEMS 1 are indebted to her for her determination and foresight.

As you are probably aware, the fires across the river have ravaged two counties. Many resources from our local area were part of the initial efforts. While they were across the river helping our neighbors we had a structure fire that required Hood River Fire to respond to assist our local fire districts with one of these fires. For the month we have had three structure fires in Klickitat County. Per our agreement with the local fire agencies, KCEMS 1 responds to all requests for an ambulance at these fires to provide medical standby and rehabilitation services as needed.

We have also have had a few traumatic calls involving critical patients. This can take a toll on the individual responder. To address this, we have counseling services available to not only our employees but we also make these services available to those fire agencies involved in these events. Taking care of our own is paramount to the longevity of not only our employees but the community volunteers as well.

The KCEMS 1 Board of Directors after much discussion, deliberation and review formally adopted a resolution at the June meeting to place a levy increase on the November ballot. This will increase our current levy from $0.30 per thousand of property evaluation to $0.50 for a period of six (6) years. For the owner of a $200,000 home this will amount to $100.00 per year or $0.27 cents per day to have 24/7 paramedic level ambulance service. We will be furnishing much more information in the upcoming months and if you ever have a question please don't hesitate to contact me.

We were all prepared to begin our community CPR classes this summer, but with all the fire events we have postponed this till the fall. Please look for more information on this, and other community programs in September.

I know I speak for our partners in the fire service when we all ask you to be extra careful with open flames and think fire safety at all times. Even things like parking a hot car over dry grass can be the start of a tragic event. We want everyone to have a safe summer and reduce any damage to our community. Be Safe--- Dave

Directors Hires Ann Varkados as Interim Superintendent

Longtime educator Ann Varkados has been hired to fill the interim superintendent position with Lyle Community Schools. At their regular monthly meeting on July 24, 2018, the Lyle Community Schools board of directors voted 3-0 to move forward with offering Dr. Varkados a contract for the 2018-2019 year.

The board originally planned to meet on July 31 to interview superintendent candidates, but after initial interviews, invited Dr. Varkados to the July 24 board meeting. After a brief executive session, the board voted in regular session to hire Dr. Varkados. Expediting the hiring process will help ensure she has time to work with staff to prepare for a successful start of the school year.

"We're excited to find a candidate with Ann's qualifications available and eager to work with our district within the budget we have available to us," Board Vice-Chair Barbara Mills noted.

Dr. Varkados will work with the district part-time under the new administrative model the board has adopted. The district will have the benefit of the skills and knowledge of two individuals, a full-time principal and part-time superintendent. She emphasized during the interview process her willingness to be available on call as needed. "Being a superintendent is, in reality, a 24-7 job," she said. A resident of Vancouver, Washington, she currently serves as Centerville's superintendent two days a month.

After starting her career as an elementary teacher, Varkados served as a principal for schools in the Kalama and Bethel School Districts. She was later hired as Bethel's executive director of curriculum and instruction and, later, assistant superintendent of teaching and learning. She has also worked for the state superintendent's office as a school improvement effort specialist.

She holds a doctorate in educational leadership from Washington State University and two education degrees from the University of Portland.

This position was previously filled by Andrew Kelly, who served as both the superintendent and principal of the school. Kelly announced on June 13 that he had accepted the Superintendent position with North Beach School District, and the board subsequently hired Lori Smith as the school principal.

On June 26, 2018, the board launched a superintendent search, hiring the firm Northwest Leadership Associates to locate, screen and recommend candidates to fill the interim position for the 2018-2019 school year and to work with the board in hiring a permanent superintendent to join the district in August of 2019.

Poster Campaign Addresses Misperceptions About Local Youth

Lyle and Klickitat schools are neighbors connected by a short stretch of highway, a wild river and kids who are bursting with potential.

Teens Against Drug and Alcohol Abuse (TADAA!), the youth workgroup for the Klickitat & Lyle Against Substance Abuse Coalition (KLASAC), is a case in point. The group's long-term focus is on challenging both young people and adults to confront substance abuse and the underlying causes, while their current campaign invites the community to celebrate the strengths of its young people.

Finding positive things to do in a small town can be a challenge, which can make people vulnerable to drug or alcohol use, group members acknowledge.

However, says Rita Pinchot, Regional Prevention Coordinator, there's another problem in the community. Many people, both youth and adults, vastly inflate the rate of substance abuse among our young people. Data shows that, while young people and adults alike tend to think that most kids are using substances, in reality, most are not.

Looking for a way to address this crippling misperception, TADAA came up with a campaign consisting of a series of posters featuring students and positive statements they had about themselves. "We wanted to highlight the positive things that young people are doing and share that with the community," Pinchot added.

"This is more about how students perceive each other and how the adults in the community perceive kids," Pinchot explained, adding that, "in general many of our young people do struggle with negative self-views." This can create a vicious cycle of negative beliefs and behaviors. It's not limited to small towns like Lyle or Klickitat, she added. Young people everywhere are struggling with similar issues.

This change in messaging came about as a result of a team training on Positive Social Norms at the Montana Institute they participated in three years ago. TADAA! and KLASAC have gradually incorporated their learnings into coalition work. The poster project was conceived of last fall and, in May, posters were hung in Canyon Market, the Lyle Mercantile, the Sandbar, the Murdock Mini Mart and other community businesses. They'll remain on display through the summer.

The Positive Social Norms training has led to the organization shifting its overall framework to focus on the positive and finding hope while also addressing its concerns. "This is a first step in showing people what that actually can look like by working with young people to identify their individual and collective positive qualities and sharing them throughout the community," Pinchot explained.

What does the group hope viewers will take away after seeing the posters? "The positive exists and it's worth growing," Pinchot emphasized. "Lyle and Klickitat students are doing great things!"

The posters can be seen on the Lyle Community Schools Facebook page, @lyleschools.

First-Grade Team of Haarstad and Moon Announce Retirement

Wanda Haarstad with student

It's not unusual for a promising first- or second-year teacher or a para-educator to find a position in Lyle Schools. Nor is it unusual for them to stay a year or two, then move on to a larger district that can pay more for their hard-won experience.

But there are those who stay, usually because something about the community and the kids has gotten under their skin. Those that do often earn a well-deserved special place in the hearts of their students, fellow staff and community, even after retirement. We can now add Nancy Moon and Wanda Haarstad to that special persons list.

Ms. Moon and Mrs. Haarstad both announced their retirements.

Ms. Moon arrived in Lyle fresh out of college at Western Washington College (now University) in January of 1977. She hadn't been hired until December, due to an unusual Kindergarten schedule the district ran at that time. Instead of being offered half-days all year, Kindergarten was offered full days, January through June.

Ms. Moon drove into town in her brand new car with her parents following behind with a U-Haul trailer; their trip coincided with one of the Gorge's infamous ice storms. Unfamiliar with what ice in the Gorge can mean, they made the trip confidently until the back end of Ms. Moon's car sashayed back and forth.

Ms. Moon recalls that her first-year teaching experience was unusual in several ways. Due to a lack of space in the Dallesport building, the Kindergarten room that year was in the middle school on the Lyle campus. (Coincidentally, that very same room is the current Kindergarten room.)

Thirty-six Kindergarteners for any teacher is a challenge. For a first-year teacher, it has the potential to make them re-think their choice of careers, or at least employers. Ms. Moon stayed – even though the class had swelled to 42 by the time the year let out. She was invited back to teach first grade the following fall, and in the ensuing years has taught multiple grade levels in the Dallesport School, at the old Lyle Primary School (now Activity Center) and on the Lyle campus.

Nancy Moon and students

She often encounters older versions of her students in the community and the thing they always remember is Ms. Moon's love of dogs, Schnauzers specifically. She sometimes smuggled her first pup, Orion, into the school and played 20 questions with her students about what was in the bag. Orion was followed by Snickers and these days, Finnegan, with whom she competes in dog nose work competitions. Finnegan has shown a strong aptitude for finding the source of odors – generally just a couple of drops of essential oil on a cotton swab.

Ms. Moon will likely continue to participate in the competitions, and hopes to become involved in helping produce children's plays again, but first comes a knee replacement. Asked by her doctor why she didn't have the surgery in April and use up her accumulated sick leave and vacation time, Ms. Moon's aghast response made it clear that wasn't an option – she was committed to finishing the year with her last group of first-graders.

While Ms. Moon and Wanda Haarstad have been a team for just the past couple of years, Mrs. Haarstad's involvement with Lyle Schools goes back 31 years and she has filled many roles in the school.

She had considered attending teacher's college at one time, but opted for Bible College instead. A North Dakota girl, she attended Trinity Bible College and later married Les Haarstad there. Les applied and was hired as the Pastor of the Lyle Celebration Church, and they arrived in town in 1981. For a time, Mrs. Haarstad worked with children at the church and ran a daycare while caring for her own children.

Her passion for working with children naturally led her to the school district, where she started out tutoring high school students in math and reading. Some weeks it was for only a few minutes a day, but her time increased and soon other responsibilities, including serving as a class advisor, came her way. Like

Ms. Moon, she worked in every building in the district before they were consolidated on the Lyle campus. Although they've stayed in Lyle, they have experienced other parts of the world, including Africa, while on missions with the church.

Now, she's decided it's time to step away from the school district; she and Les look forward to doing some of the things they have put off.

Both Ms. Moon and Mrs. Haarstad say they're going to miss the people most – co-workers and especially the children. Ms. Moon says that when July rolls around, she'll probably have to fight the urge to start preparing for the next school year as she has the past 42 years.

"This has been home for a long time," they both say. Neither plans to relocate anywhere else anytime soon, and, as always, welcome a friendly word and sharing happy memories with former students and their parents.

Candidates for School Board Wanted

We want to send a big thank you to Board Chairperson Phil Williams for his work during three years on the Lyle Schools Board of Directors! Phil has accepted a position as vice-principal at The Dalles High School and will be CRAZY busy, so he has resigned his seat on the school board. Currently, the remaining board members are seeking candidates to fill the position for the remainder of the current term, which ends in December, 2019. Candidates must reside within director district three. (You can click on a map on our webpage.) If selected, you'll receive training and learn tons about school district operations. ## School Board Launches Interim Superintendent Search

Following the resignation of Superintendent/Principal Andrew Kelly on June 13, the Lyle Community Schools Board of Directors has been moving forward to find new leadership for the district.

At a special board meeting June 15, the board appointed long-time fourth-grade teacher Lori Smith as the new school principal. Ms. Smith recently earned her administrator credentials and is already digging in to the multiple decisions and actions that need to take place over the summer in preparation for the coming school year.

The board is also currently engaged in a search for an interim part-time superintendent. During the regular board meeting June 26, the board voted to hire Northwest Leadership Associates, who will locate, screen and recommend candidates to fill the interim position for the 2018-2019 school year. For the same reduced fee, the search firm will work with the board to find a permanent superintendent to join the district in August of 2019.

Superintendent searches typically take several months and involve multiple public meetings – first, to allow the board and search firm to hear from the community about their preference, and, later, for the community to hear from finalists for the position, and to ask questions of them.

By bringing in an interim superintendent for a year, the board and staff will get the chance to test the efficacy of the separate full-time principal/part-time superintendent structure – filled by two individuals - versus the previous full-time principal/superintendent filled by a single individual. The board has expressed that they will rely heavily on input from staff in evaluating this structure.

The search for a new permanent superintendent will start this fall. Watch for more information toward the end of summer.

Maryhill Winery To Discontinue Amphitheater Concerts Next Year

The August 25 Ben Harper and Charlie Musselwhite show at Maryhill Winery will be the last concert at the beautiful 4,000-seat amphitheater as the winery, one of Washington state's largest, has decided to discontinue future summer concerts after 2018.

"We invite everyone to come enjoy Ben Harper and Charlie Musselwhite on their brilliant 'No Mercy In This Land' tour," said Craig Leuthold, who owns Maryhill Winery with his wife, Vicki. "It will be a wonderful, blues-infused show, and a great send-off as we discontinue future summer concerts at Maryhill Winery."

Explained Leuthold about the decision: "The dynamics of the concert business have changed significantly since we started this series 15 years ago. There are a lot more outdoor venues and casinos all competing for great musical talent. Our wine business continues to grow aggressively, and we need to concentrate our efforts on our core business of producing and selling high-quality wines."

Maryhill Winery last year opened a new tasting room in Spokane, Wash., located at Kendall Yards on the north bank of the Spokane River, which has been highly successful.

"We want to thank all our fans and supporters and encourage anyone who enjoys—or hasn't seen—our concerts at Maryhill's amphitheater to do so in August," continued Leuthold. "Maryhill Winery offers top-quality artists, an expansive outdoor lawn, panoramic views of the area's breathtaking landscape, excellent food and wine, and great views from every seat."

The winery will continue to support local music in the Columbia River Gorge, and its Terrace Music series will continue at its popular vine-covered terrace every summer weekend. Leuthold says the winery is contemplating future use of the amphitheater space. Reprinted with permission from Goldendale Sentinel

Vintage Dufur Days

Aug 11 at 6 AM to Aug 12 at 5 PM

Take a step back in time and experience a slice of country life that is fading quickly. Dufur, a tiny town perched on the edge of the Columbia River Gorge, is a center of dryland wheat farming that began just after settlers arrived on the Oregon Trail, 175 years ago. The quaint town just 13 miles south of The Dalles, celebrates its roots in Oregon agriculture with Vintage Dufur Days: a weekend of old-time activities. With so much of life and work busily focused on electronic media and on-line communication, this event is a hands-on opportunity to reconnect with a slower, easier pace.
